What would the Lala Books be? Would it be another read aloud at the store?

Some of these fundraisers I never attended so I dont know how it would it be.

I have a two year old toddler that's hard to control when we go out

Yes , I feel like after school program should be an everyday thing for 3 graders and up because it gives us parents time to work

Good

Are we going to be bringing back the "This is Us" celebration. It's a nice way for students and staff to celebrate their diversity and heritage.

Maybe a community book/clothes/toy swap? It could teach the students a valuable lesson on sustainability and that second hand isn't so bad!

School hockey game at UML would be fun

School musical or plays

A reading escape room event

I would like to see a pajama story night where kids can go listen to a story with their families and learn together how to read and talk about a book.

Movie night?: wear pjs, have popcorn... show movie on screen

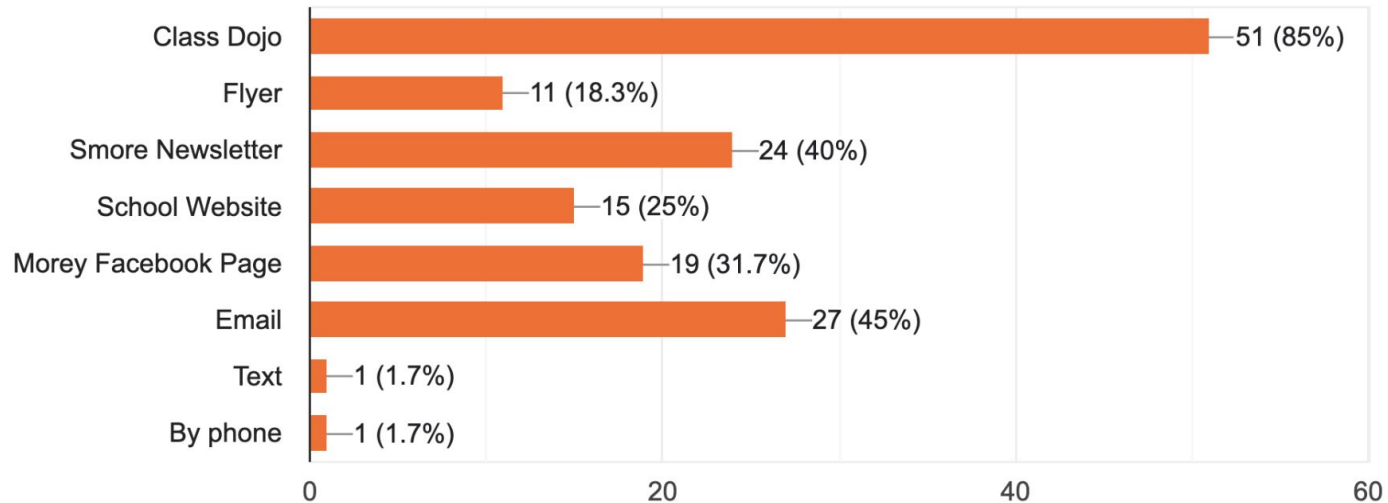

N/A

Spirit week kids come one week dressed as what the day is. Example: Disney day, crazy hair day, pj day etc.

i think the morey school is one of the best schools in lowell! with great teachers and staff =)

During the book fair, have teacher's request for books available for families. Parents/ Families can purchase a book and donate it to their students classroom. They did this at my son's school and it was a huge success.

None
