QIP

Conduct monthly meetings with a focus on curriculum, behavior, culture, and data. A lot of great things have come out of this.

NEXT YEAR - We will work on a team project for school improvement

Data - assessments analyze data for placement of strategy/skill groupings

More dedicated time for that to happen - Next steps include a monthly data review session

Student-Specific Supports and Instruction to All Students -

Interventions that we will do to meet students specific needs

One area that we have seen across the board is writing

We will be using Framing Your Thoughts

Really concrete ways for students to structure their sentences

We will be assessing three times a year and look at students writing with similar prompts

- What do you like about Fall?
- What do you like about Winter?
- What do you like about Spring?

We will be using the same rubric to see how students are growing in their writing according to the Framing Your Thoughts resources

Monitoring ST Math for interventions

DESSA tool - data from the DESSA will guide our social emotional instruction

Digital tools

Daily meeting time each day - has been amazing

Questions -

How are we leveraging these efforts when determining school priorities?

More people are involved. Writing boot camp has come out of this.

What progress is your school making towards academic goals?

Our data is not that different from last year at least on iReady.

We are going to put more resources and professional development towards addressing the social emotional needs of our students.

Where are students making the greatest academic gains and why? The least academic gains and why?

Voting on the QIP - all thumbs are up - Julie, Amy, Sarah, Mary Ellen, Amy, Meredith, Lisa, Heather, Gina approves

Next steps - Kim will get the budget book on Friday
