School Philosophy

The philosophical basis of the Dr. An Wang Science/Math Magnet School, established 1993, is that all academic endeavors will be understood as real world activities. Efforts are made to dispel the image of cultural and sexual biases, especially in the fields of math and science. All students are to become thinkers and self-motivated problem solvers who can work cooperatively with one another to acquire the intellectual, social, and moral attitudes, as well as the skills and knowledge needed to prepare for a world that will always be changing – all skills that will allow the next generation of citizens to be successful in an age of technology.
