

House of Cards Challenge

First, place your students into groups and have them discuss their likes and dislikes. Then, give them each approximately 30 index cards and have them label each card with one thing they have in common. Next, have them create towers out of the index cards that are at least 10 inches in height. Challenge them to compete against the other participants and groups. You can even give the team with the tallest tower a prize!

